Welcome!

Like every month, this month has many exciting things in store, but before I get to that I’d like to explain what Numerology is all about to the newcomers (or those of you that may need to read up on it a bit again).

Numerology, as the name suggests, is the study of numbers. Each number was assigned a Cosmic/Karmic vibration or energy. Legend has it this was done by the ancient Egyptians and Pythagoras, the father of modern mathematics, translated their knowledge into a format that could be understood by the Western World.

What people like myself then do is take this ancient knowledge and use it to ascertain the energies prevalent in certain things. This could be anything from the energy of a name, to the energy of a birth date, to the energy of the amount of flour you use to bake your favorite cake (although this last one will take a bit more creative intuition, but I’ll get to that in a bit).

Everything, and I mean EVERYTHING, is made up of energy. What numerology does is translate that energy into psychic understanding (as in understood by your psyche, not some hocus pocus act, as the word has been misconstrued to mean).

Unexplainable things, like the threads that hold the Universe together, are brought to light through numerology. Take the number 4 for example. On the positive side it represents structure and following rules. On the negative side it represents confusion and chaos.

But that doesn’t tell you much about how it relates to your life in the month ahead. That’s where this report comes in handy. In this report I will relay the divine secrets you need to understand in order to be in tune with the world around you at any given time.

You won’t find exactly what to do to have the perfect life in this report. That is not the aim. I am going to give you guidelines to apply to your own life, yes. I am also giving you a description of what energies the numbers in the month represent.
But how you apply this knowledge to your particular situation is up to you. I don’t even expect that everything I write will resonate with you. But the chances are that, in this report, you will find the greatest insight into how you can achieve the future you desire.

The format of the report is quite simple. The first thing you’ll find is the Year forecast. It is essential to keep this forecast in mind throughout the report as the energy of the year sets the tone for the entire year. Therefore, each month is dependent on this energy.

Next I have done a forecast on the month itself. As you may have guessed this energy is applicable to all the weekly forecasts of that month. You will also find weekly challenges, affirmations and an action plan for each week, as well as what the challenge and lucky days are for that week.

So there you have it. If you’d like to test your psychic understanding you’re welcome to use the table below to work out the number a name represents. However, please remember that a sense of detachment works best when interpreting someone else’s name.

It really does help to be objective about others when it comes to being intuitive, otherwise you’ll just find exactly what you’re looking for. When using your psychic abilities (everyone who has a psyche has psychic abilities that they can develop with practice) it is common that your ego will super impose your desires on your reading, albeit consciously or unconsciously. The key is to look at the information you receive first.

Then apply it to the situation as objectively as possible. This may sound weird, and it will take practice to perfect, but I’m sure you’ll understand what I mean after a couple of times. A healthy balance between interpretation, intuition and intent needs to be maintained at all times, lest you unknowingly create more trouble than good out of selfishness.

Anyway, here’s the table you can use to interpret names, or any words in general:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>1</th>
<th>2</th>
<th>3</th>
<th>4</th>
<th>5</th>
<th>6</th>
<th>7</th>
<th>8</th>
<th>9</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>B</td>
<td>C</td>
<td>D</td>
<td>E</td>
<td>F</td>
<td>G</td>
<td>H</td>
<td>I</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J</td>
<td>K</td>
<td>L</td>
<td>M</td>
<td>N</td>
<td>O</td>
<td>P</td>
<td>Q</td>
<td>R</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>S</td>
<td>T</td>
<td>U</td>
<td>V</td>
<td>W</td>
<td>X</td>
<td>Y</td>
<td>Z</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Example:
DAVID = 4 + 1 + 4 + 9 + 4 = 22 (MASTER NUMER, no need to go to single digit)

EMMA = 5 + 4 + 4 + 1 = 14 = (reduce to single digit) 1 + 4 = 5
What does 1 mean for the coming year?

The Number 1 challenges you – well, it challenges everyone. Just look at the shape of it – upright, straight, willing to be seen and ready to rumble. The Number 1 is the most individualistic of the numerology numbers. As a 1 year, 2017 promises to be out in front, its agenda visible, with a “take no prisoners” attitude.

This number’s energies are generally seen in the mundane world, in the realm of politics, leadership, business and science. But it also has a persona in the elevated, spiritual realm. The 1 is the first, the number that all other numbers follow. It is primal. To understand its primal energies is to inhabit a place where the metaphysical questions have been answered, and are lived by.

All the numbers have their upside, and their challenges. The 1, when its qualities are used well, is the number of leadership, courage, goals identified and pursued in creative ways, and with great possibility of success.

When its qualities are not used well, the 1 can show signs of unreasonable domination, a concern for status, with a great deal of anger and aggression, an overly controlling approach – and making decisions based on personal gain and ego, rather than the greater good.

The 1 is ruled by the Sun, so it’s no surprise that its gift is energy that is seemingly endless, and its shortcoming is that its thoughts and actions often revolve around the ego.
Certainly the approach of world leaders at this time – both the ones who lead well, and the ones who lead from a place of ego and aggression – come to mind when reading the description of the 1. That 2017 is under the aegis of the 1 suggests it will be a year when nations take on the personality of those leading.

And what does it mean for you? If you are called to leadership, this year will give you opportunities to try your hand at leading – and to learn from your mistakes. If you are not called to leadership, this year may push you into leadership roles, despite your best intentions and your wishes.

A good way to think of this number is as “limitless”. Not just in terms of limitless possibility for change and advancement, but also in terms of understanding that the energy of this number will not be limited.

This is an energy that can bring the drive and insight to make dreams into reality. It is also the number that creates that reality by simply running down any obstacles. In many ways, the very best use of a Number 1 is as a farsighted, visionary leader who inspires and brings change. But there is a fine line between that leader, and the one who becomes gripped by a vision, to the exclusion of all else, plows under any opposition, insists on seeing challenges and solutions in overly simplified ways, and finds themselves crossing the finish line, leaving others lying in the road behind them.

Which way will this year go? Strong leadership for positive change – or dictators who bend nations to their own will, and CEOs who see the earth’s beauty only in terms of their own money and power? The Dakota Access Pipeline fight in the U.S. is indicative of 1 energy, and this is a battle that will likely resolve, one way or the other, in 2017. One the one side, Native American leaders have banded together for the cause of stopping the pipeline across their lands.

They are showing more cohesion and more mutual support for each other than they have in hundreds of years. Their leaders have inspired their people and other protesters who have joined them, to protest peacefully, to remember they are not fighting, but are, instead, protecting water, the source of life.

Against them, you have the leaders of the corporation that opposes the protest, and wants access to the land. These leaders are focused on their profits, and their deadlines. They’ve employed private security that used dogs to intimidate the protesters, and “law-keeping” forces that have used rubber bullets, and have sprayed the protesters – who include children and the elderly – with water, in sub-freezing temperatures. The two approaches illustrate very well the positive aspects of 1 leadership, and the less positive.
You can see similar dichotomies of how the 1’s approach to leadership is likely to affect our world in 2017 in Great Britain’s leaving of the EU; in the death of Fidel Castro, seen by some as a savior and by others as a heartless dictator; in the wide gap between the leadership styles of U.S. President Obama, and incumbent U.S. President Donald Trump.

As refugees and immigrants seek homes, the 1 can use leadership skills to find solutions for current residents, and those who wish to become residents. The 1 can also become intractable, close the borders, and protect the status quo.

In a nutshell – the energy of the 1 for 2017 offers great opportunity for a seasoned, skillful leader to lead his or her country in much-needed change that will benefit the people. And it offers great opportunity for a powerful few to manipulate for the purpose of personal gain and to serve personal ego.

Which will it be? Much of that will depend on how the 1 plays out in individual lives. Will individuals support a strong leader who is working for the greater good? Will they join the ranks of the leader who works for personal gain, and in doing so, put their own gain above that of the greater good?

And will individuals fight back against governments and corporations that are corrupt, and threaten the people, and the earth? The 1 does not shy away from a confrontation – it can stand up for justice, or it can use whatever force necessary – including misuse of power - to overcome opposition. The 1 can play out in a number of ways. What approach will you choose?

Romance, Career, Health

In a Number 1 year, romance and relationships may struggle. On the one hand, the 1 is a powerful ally, in love and friendship. It urges loyalty, unwavering support, fairness and outspokenness. If you are in trouble, there’s no better friend to call on for support than someone born with the Number 1 as their life number. This is a powerful ally. The 1 is the most individualistic – it is the lone entrepreneur, rather than the team that forges new approaches. The 1 does not shy away from confrontation.

Tempers are likely to get hot, words that are hard to take back are likely to be said, and there’s not a lot of “warm and fuzzy” to ease the relationship. In a 1 year, its likely relationships will pose challenges, and expectations that are almost impossible to meet. But – in the struggle to meet them, you’ll find you learn relationship skills and approaches far more powerful than those you knew before. Just commit to hanging in there, whether it’s a friendship or a romance. The waters will get choppy, but you’ll develop some seriously strong relationship skills.
In a 1 year, work and career are more likely sources of personal satisfaction than are relationships. The individualistic nature of the 1 likes work — a place where determination and vision can be shaped, supported and driven, to achieve change and — often — profit. A place where logic rules, rather than the heart.

The 1s energies will be strong support, this year, should you wish to focus on furthering your career, or – even more in keeping with 1 energies – striking out on your own to be self-employed. In finance, a 1 year is a strong year to support financial gain.

In general, a 1 year bodes well for health issues. The 1 is a strong number — even if good health is challenges, in a 1 year, it’s likely you and others will return to good health, and more quickly than you might expect. Watch out for overdoing – the 1 is highly energetic, so much so that you might not notice when your reserves are becoming depleted. If you are an extrovert who relies on logic and reason, rather than intuition, the energies of the year will feel more like home to you. If you are more introverted, and intuitive, speak up to tell others what you see. Though it isn’t always easy for you to speak up and lead, your voice will be needed this year to bring the balance that lets the 1 be at its best.

Above all – bring balance to your choices and approaches this year. Use the 1’s strong attributes of leadership, creativity, focus and determination to form your plan and, to some extent, carry it out. But once the plan is formed, commit to checking yourself along the way. Are you looking past the surface for what is really happening?

As new information comes in, should you shift or adjust your original plan? Are there a couple of people whose advice you value, who might give you additional insight? And are the choices you are making choices that an ethics committee would approve?

Use this year of the expansive 1 to expand your horizons and the possibilities in your life, relying on balance to make the most of what this year promises.

Affirmations for 2017

I set boundaries well, and I’m wise in knowing when to make my boundaries permeable. I make choices that serve the greater good in this generation, and for generations to come. I am aligned with the energies of the universe.
The Month of February

To calculate the energy of this month, add the Month + the Year = this Month’s Numerology

\[2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 12 = (1+2) = 3\]

So February’s energy is focused on enthusiasm and self-expression.

What does 3 mean for the month ahead?

Three helps us ease into this month under the energies of the Number 1, with the lighter energies of 3. We are under the energies of 1 for the entire year of 2017. February’s inclusion of 3 energies offers a nice synergy. Like the 1, the 3 is active, enthusiastic, vibrant. But while 1 brings a single-minded focus that is effective, but sometimes overwhelming, the 3 softens that focus to be more about partnering, nurturing and communications with others. It offers a great opportunity to make the most of the strong points of the year’s 1 – focus, change, strong action – while mitigating its challenges – ego, closed-mindedness and inflexibility.

So use the 3 energies of February to help you learn how best to navigate this year under the Number 1. The year offers some great opportunities that, if managed with balance, can have positive impact on your career, finances, and even on your service to others. This 3 month is a good way to make the most of those opportunities.

The number 3 is associated with the Empress Tarot card. The Empress is divine creativity brought to this plane, so use those energies to brainstorm opportunities and potential solutions to problems. She is about abundance, and that offsets the sometimes “all or nothing” attitude of the year’s 1, and gives you a broader perspective on possibilities. The Empress is also very good with resources, at least resources to sustain others – she cares for her people, and makes sure they have what they need. With her emphasis on abundance and resources, this would be an excellent time to review your finances and investments, and come up with strategies to meet your goals this year.
Watch for areas in which the 3 and the 1 carry similar challenges – those challenges will be particularly present, and may be particularly hard to recognize. Both numbers have trouble seeing the downside of things – 1 because the 1 commits to a plan and then tends to follow through with it, oblivious to any warnings that the plan isn’t quite working. The 3 has the same challenge, because 3 is so optimistic that it sees potential, not problems, sometimes waiting until it is too late to recognize threats. Make it a point to refocus on potential glitches, in any plan or approach. You needn’t lose enthusiasm! Just tell yourself that a quick check for problems will let you sleep well at night, and bring more energy to what can be accomplished.

All in all, use this month to socialize and build relationships with like-minded people who can further your career and financial goals. If career and finance aren’t a focus for you, perhaps charities and other works that improve humanity and the state of the world are? This is a good month to plan how to achieve your goals in the area of service, too, partnering with others who share your enthusiasm.

Use the 1 and the 3 to balance each other, to make the most of what both have to offer this month. If you do, they promise a great approach to the year.

How is 3 Expressed in the World Today?

Three urges a positive outlook, and creative solutions. Your New Year has probably gotten rolling, and it’s been “back to business.” The 3 makes turning back to the world’s problems and opportunities a little more about solutions and commitment, rather than the fatalistic energies that sometimes come on us in the New Year. It encourages the generous outlook of the Empress – so look for leaders to make decisions that are generous to refugees, rather than a “close the borders” approach. It is an excellent energy to strengthen ties or increase understanding between the heads of nations, as long as the year’s 1 energy doesn’t become too territorial or closed minded.

The 1 can become intractable; the 3 can also, like a generous woman who suddenly becomes incensed that her generosity has not (to her mind) been adequately appreciated (think of a queen who is giving, until she isn’t). So world leaders and statesmen should watch out for a tendency to draw strong borders, and be offended by what they perceive as a lack of appreciation or generosity from others.

At its best, 1 energy is about acting from a place of primal concern for the greater good, and the 3 Empress energies are also generally nurturing, and thoughtful of others. This combination offers an opportunity to make progress in healing the world’s wounds and needs. It may be important for individuals to express their desires around these issues to those in their government, during this month and in the months to come.
What Does 3 Mean to YOU, Personally?

December was also a 3 month, but probably more focused on year-end socialization. Those energies come in again, with the focus shifting to the early months of 2017. Perhaps you’ve set New Year’s resolutions? If you feel your commitment waning, the 3 would suggest that you can strengthen your commitment through involvement with groups of other like-minded people. The 3 values face-to-face communication and support, but if that’s not possible, joining an online group for mutual support might be useful. Seek support from others trying to embrace healthier habits or achieve goals; you might find partnering with a personal coach or therapist helpful, too.

Watch out for 3’s tendency to indulge – not a helpful approach when your New Year’s resolutions were just getting started and your wallet is feeling lighter after December and January celebrations!

Keep your ultimate goals around career, finance, and service in mind this month, and make room to support them through social engagements and relationship-building. The 3 energies make you shine – though your shining will likely take on more practical guise. Offer to speak at a business meeting, or serve as the spokesperson for a charitable organization.

Keep a balance of light-hearted socialization, and an awareness of your goals for the year. The 3 may draw you more into the indulgent side of socialization, but if you can use social opportunities to further your goals, you’ll be surprised at how much ground you gain.

The 3 and the year’s 1 both support improved health – 3 through nurturing, 1 through focused approaches to improvement. Take the opportunity this month to look at your health – what needs addressing? What commitments can you make to improve or support overall health? Set aside some quiet time to make a plan, because it’s also a good idea this month to make sure the 1 and 3 energies don’t wear you out. Both can make you overcommit.

In relationships, let the warmth of 3 come through, while holding back a bit on the 1’s inclination to expect too much, and demand perfection. This month, the 3 would be a better energy to encourage love and friendship. However – if a relationship needs to be evaluated and let go, the 1 energy will serve you better than impulsive, optimistic 3.
Here are some questions to help you reap the insights of this month:

How do I draw abundance to myself?

This month, relationships are enjoyable on their own, but are also a means to achieving your goals around career, finance, service and health.

How can I nurture myself?

If (like most of us) you overindulged during December and the New Year, let 3’s emphasis on the body, and nurturance, encourage you to choose tea over wine, salad over appetizers, rest over late nights out. The 3’s connection to the Empress is very much grounded in the earthly body. Tune into your body – ask what it wants, what it needs. If you’ve neglected it over the past weeks, it likely has some things to tell you, if you make time to listen.

How can I give and receive beauty, harmony and love?

The 3’s energies in the New Year are probably more practical than they were in December. Let your focus turn away from others, and focus on nesting, and things that comfort and support enjoying your home.
February Week One
01/02/2017 – 07/02/2017

Numerology Equation

01/02/2017  = 1 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 13 = (1 + 3) = 4
02/02/2017  = 2 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 14 = (1 + 4) = 5
03/02/2017  = 3 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 15 = (1 + 5) = 6
04/02/2017  = 4 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 16 = (1 + 6) = 7
05/02/2017  = 5 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 17 = (1 + 7) = 8
06/02/2017  = 6 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 18 = (1 + 8) = 9
07/02/2017  = 7 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 19 = (1 + 9) = 10 = (1 + 0) = 1

Days Numerology Total  = 4 + 5 + 6 + 7 + 8 + 9 + 1 = 40 = (4 + 0) = 4

This means the week is all about practicality...

What does 4 mean this week?

One way to envision the relationship between the month’s 3 and the week’s 4 is to see them as their Tarot personalities. The 3 is the Empress – wild creativity, impulsive, nurturing, requiring admiration, abundant, dynamic. This is the most feminine of numbers. The 4 is the Emperor – at its best, a good King, who makes sure his people are fed and doesn’t let heart get in the way of making the right decision. This is the most masculine of numbers. If you look at the Emperor, in many decks he is shown on a throne, one leg crossed over the other, his body shaped like a 4. That crossed leg is a boundary. The Emperor knows what is right, knows what he wants, knows what to do. The Empress is all about fertility. The Emperor is all about ruling, and knowing.

If you think perhaps this couple doesn’t always have the happiest of unions – you’d be right.

The 4 has strong capabilities – in a week overseen by 4, dependability, punctuality, trust, tradition and obedience will be at the forefront. Pushing against that will be the month’s 3 – creative, impulsive, sometimes immature, disdaining of someone concerned with the mundane (like the 4). Watch for significant tug-of-war between these two this week.

For you, I’m going to suggest what I often suggest – that you remain flexible, and you seek the balance. Both these numbers have their uses – wisdom lies in choosing the energies to go with. If you have a social situation, or a situation in which charm and charisma would be useful, channel your 3/Empress energies of the month. If you have hard decisions to make, need to keep on point, or set and hold boundaries – if it’s more about the head than the heart – let the 4/Emperor energies guide you.

Watch out this week for trouble between married or engaged couples. If things become too polarized, gracefully just back away, or you’ll find both people will turn on you instead of each other. Yeah, it’s that kind of dynamic!

You may also find that your issues with your father are a factor this week.

Watch for a battle of wills between those who value tradition and obedience, and those who value creativity, change and freedom. Sure, that could turn a bit ugly – but there’s also fertile ground when those two viewpoints are pushing for what they want. The 3’s energies are very vocal and very willing to be seen. Energies of the number 4 don’t like being the center of attention – but they want what they want, and they’ll speak up and push back if they need to. Unless you decide to take one side or the other, listen for places where these two opposing energies could come together. They recognize the need for change; help them find the path to change, and you could really have a positive impact.

If you find yourself too focused on work and achievement this week, back away a bit and notice others around you. The 4 energies often fall short of their potential because they fail to involve others in their plans and projects. From time to time, take a break, visit co-workers or make a phone call, and require of yourself a certain compassion, and a focus on others.

This week, you may find yourself in a social setting with a lawyer, accountant or scientist. They may have good (if a bit dry) advice for you; or it may be that you can help them function better socially, in the social setting.
In planning, watch out for a tendency to play it safe, relying too much on approaches that have been successful in the past. The tried and true ways may indeed be the best approach – but call in other teammates for their take on things, and listen for the middle-ground approach between tradition, and innovation.

What are the challenges for the week?

Any issue involving change will meet with one camp pushing back, and the other blithely running toward change, full-force. Check in with your own intuition on what is best, but be prepared to defend your intuitive choice with hard facts.

Watch that you don’t get caught up in others’ extremes. Meetings meant to get buy-in from all parties may not be the best idea this week. Rather, have everyone develop their recommended strategy on their own; then get together next week to brainstorm together, when energies are less polar.

Pay attention to your body, and don’t let that voice that says “oh, just push through” always call the shots. The 3 energies ask us to stay in touch with our physical selves; the week’s 4 energies disdain limitations, and urge us to push through until we’re exhausted. Work late if you must to meet a deadline – but then let the end of the evening involve some self-pampering.

What are some helpful affirmations for the week?

- I value and honor my leadership ability.
- I bring out the best in others.
- I find a balance between tradition and innovation.
- I know change is inevitable, and I navigate change well.

What action plan can you follow to make the most of your week?

Carefully bring the month’s 3 energies and the week’s 4 energies together to balance each other. If you find yourself at a social gathering of 4-types, such as lawyers or accountants, gently bring a little nurturance and social grace to the evening. If you find yourself in a meeting that is going every which way, the 4’s skill with boundaries and structure is useful. Ultimately, all the numbers bring out the best in each other, if those influenced by the number are evolved enough to know the strengths and weaknesses. You can navigate this week, and there’s much to be gained if you choose the right energy in the right circumstances. At the least – if you keep your cool, you’ll be recognized for your ability to facilitate conflict and change.
The lucky day of the week:

Friday – The 3 and the 4 can both be stubborn, and unable to consider others’ opinions. Friday brings the levelling energy of 6 in, to bring harmony and a more open approach to conflict. For the 6, it’s all about others, and that approach may appease both the month’s 3 and the week’s 4 enough to make forward progress. The 6 energy, if evolved and used well, might look something like:

1. The 3 and 4 energies are arguing, and the argument is escalating.
2. The 6 gracefully steps in and says something to make both 3 and 4 angry; they turn and focus their anger on the 6
3. The 6 gracefully acknowledges the 3 and 4 are right, and he or she was wrong
4. The 3 and 4 agree – yes, you WERE wrong!!!! And the argument is over, with the 3 and 4 surprised to find themselves on the same side, with a platform of commonality to build on.

That’s 6 at its best.

The challenge day of the week:

Tuesday – on Tuesday, watch out for 1 energies exacerbating both 3 and 4 energies. The 1 is as intractable and self-focused as the 4, but with an added measure of ego. If the 3 energies are focused on charm and persuasion, 1 disdains that – and anyone acting from a 3 dynamic is not going to take well to being disdained. The 1 energies combined with 3 bring way too much focus on the individual, with little consideration of others. The 1 and 4 energies combined gang up on 3 energies, with a get-it-done-at-all-costs approach. Best not to have meetings today; instead, work from home, using those 1 and 4 energies to really knock out a detailed plan. Then, give your 3 side its time in the evening – a night out with nothing but light-hearted conversation, or a night in with some self-pampering.
February Week Two

08/02/2017 – 14/02/2017

Numerology Equation

08/02/2017 = 8 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 20 = (2 + 0) = 2

09/02/2017 = 9 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 21 = (2 + 1) = 3

10/02/2017 = 1 + 0 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 13 = (1 + 3) = 4

11/02/2017 = 1 + 1 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 14 = (1 + 4) = 5

12/02/2017 = 1 + 2 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 15 = (1 + 5) = 6

13/02/2017 = 1 + 3 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 16 = (1 + 6) = 7

14/02/2017 = 1 + 4 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 17 = (1 + 7) = 8

Days Numerology Total = 2 + 3 + 4 + 5 + 6 + 7 + 8 = 35 = (3 + 5) = 8

What does 8 mean this week?

This is an 8 week, in a 3 month, in a 1 year – and actually, 8 balances those two well. In fact – 8 balances most things well. Just look at the shape – the ever-flowing, never-ending infinity sign.

The energies of the 8 seem to be focused on business, career, finance. On the surface, that’s what you’ll usually see an 8 engaged in. But that focus represents a means to an end – you can think of the 8 as comfortably representing opposites, the material/ spiritual, the assertive/ vulnerable, the realist/ visionary. Like the year’s 1 energy, the 8 is focused and wants results – but while the 1 is grounded in ego, the 8 simply wants to have impact for change. The 8 is more diplomatic, and, unlike the 1, is more likely to revise their plan, if needed, and is interested in others’ observations. They involve others, but unlike the 3, the 8 energies are not manipulative – rather, they are honest to a fault.

The 8 brings a zing of profit and success to the week. This week will focus on money, power, influence, but while that would be where it ends for a 1 week, in this week the efforts will be to serve a greater need. This week, expect to meet a financier who is a true philanthropist – or a monk with a strong ability to increase the monastery’s assets. That kind of balancing of unlike energies is what the 8 asks for, and offers, this week.

This week’s 8 energies make it an excellent time to focus on career and finances. Regarding health, 8 is likely to deliver news that is hard to hear, but follow up immediately with a plan to bring healing and cure. Romance is not the 8’s strong point; but look past the surface. There, you’ll find someone who is blunt and logical, but also reliable, hard-working, supportive and soulful.

What are the challenges for the week?

The year’s 1, the month’s 3 and the week’s 8 actually get along pretty well. All are visible; all are dynamic. The 3 and 8 have an interesting edgy relationship – it’s as though both are saying, “I see who you really are and what you are really doing – but I won’t tell.” The 1 and the 8 understand each other’s drive and ambition, though the 1 does not understand the 8’s greater calling to service. Challenges this week will be, first, the high energy. The 3 energy will possibly socialize excessively; the 1 will demand action and results; the 8 will ask you to sacrifice yourself for the greater good, stay late and get that report out. This week, you don’t even need to try to spot the need to take some down time; just know you’ll need to take it, and schedule it in advance, before your calendar fills up (because all three of these energies are not likely to take “no” for an answer).

What are some helpful affirmations for the week?

- I easily ride the waves of change.
- Others’ expectations need not influence my goals.
- I honor my commitments.
- I am balanced and centered.
What action plan can you follow to make the most of your week?

Let the 8 energies balance the year’s 1 energies, and the month’s 3 energies. The 8’s ability to balance lets you make the most of all three influences. Let 8 partner with 1 for visionary plans and unlimited energy to carry them out. Let 8 bring out the best in 3 – social, charismatic, but with an underlying depth that is about more than just ego and manipulation. Likewise, 3 can soften 8’s unwavering focus, and let a bit of fun balance out the 8’s sometimes humorless approach.

And 8, at its best, can keep the differences between 3 and 1 from erupting into an ego-war.

Carve out some time for quiet this week – none of these 3 energies will support you in that, so make up your mind to take some time for self-care. This would not be a good week to gamble – 1 will tell you you’re too smart to lose, 3 will tell you you’re too lucky to lose, and 8 just loves taking risks. It’s very likely you’ll run into someone in a social situation who has advice about finances and career – or possibly, a month long vacation to an ashram.

The lucky day of the week:

Sunday – On the 12th, the energies of the 6 mix well with the other three energies of year, month and week. The 6 brings a more local, nurturing focus. The 1, 3 and the week’s 8 will go until they drop – 6 holds the body and what it needs in higher regard. And, gets along well with all three of the others, with 1 taking 6’s unwavering attention as its due, 3 loving that it still gets to hog the attention, and 8 admiring the 6’s devotion. With the 6 in play, whatever tense conversations or dynamics might surface, they’ll soon be smoothed out. If there is something difficult looming for you this week – a difficult conversation, meeting or decision – Sunday would be a good day to schedule it, for maximum opportunity of success.

The challenge day of the week:

Monday – On the 13th, the 7 brings in energies that are likely to rub everyone the wrong way. The 1 of this year cannot fathom what motivates the 7. The 3 finds 7 dull and uninteresting. And 8, while drawn to 7’s spirituality, becomes irritated at how inflexible and narrow-focused 7 energies can be. Altogether, when you mix the 7 in, there’s just too much going on. You remember my suggestion that you take some time for self-care? Take Monday off. Give yourself a 3-day weekend, and if you cram Saturday and Sunday full of engagements, leave Monday to be time just for you – the week is almost over, so in terms of activity, it’s been a full week already. You can get back to your routine tomorrow, with an 8 day that should flow pretty smoothly.
February Week Three

15/02/2017 – 21/02/2017

Numerology Equation

15/02/2017  =  1 + 5 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7  =  18  =  (1 + 8)  =  9
16/02/2017  =  1 + 6 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7  =  19  =  (1 + 9)  =  10  =  (1 + 0)  =  1
17/02/2017  =  1 + 7 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7  =  20  =  (2 + 0)  =  2
18/02/2017  =  1 + 8 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7  =  21  =  (2 + 1)  =  3
19/02/2017  =  1 + 9 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7  =  22  (Master Number)
20/02/2017  =  2 + 0 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7  =  14  =  (1 + 4)  =  5
21/02/2017  =  2 + 1 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7  =  15  =  (1 + 5)  =  6

Days Numerology Total  =  9 + 1 + 2 + 3 + 22 + 5 + 6 = 48 = (4 + 8) = 12 = (1 + 2) = 3

That means this week is all about enthusiasm and self-expression…

What does 3 mean this week?

The 3 is Queenly, with everything Queendom promises, and everything it threatens. The energies of a 3 week are generally generous, creative – she bestows gifts and favor, often just with her presence. Weeks influenced by 3 are marked by charm, graciousness, social ease, and charisma. There is sometimes a risk that there is something darker beneath the surface of that charm – manipulation, ego, vengefulness. A week that falls under Number 3 is likely to be a very positive and enjoyable one, but if it goes bad, it can go very bad, very fast.

With February also falling under 3, the 3 energies will be strong this week. Even if you are not someone who charms and manipulates – you might give it a try this week, perhaps to serve some higher purpose. It’s likely that everyone will be at their best (unless, as I noted is possible, they flip flop over to their absolute worst).

In many weeks, I advise you to look to flexibility and balance. This week, my advice to you is: skate on the surface of the good feelings and social opportunities all week. Enjoy the feeling of being even more attractive than usual, and particularly charming (“My goodness, you might think, “I could certainly do with more of these qualities in my life every week!”). Enjoy others’ charm and vivaciousness as well. But keep your intuition in play. If the conversation takes a turn, if an expression darkens, best to step back a bit, or slip away entirely, because the dark side of 3 may be about to make an appearance.

Like all the numbers, if 3 is evolved, it brings great gifts. The energies this week will be optimistic and creative. It would be a great week to brainstorm with your team, especially about something artistic like an ad campaign. Take the team out for lunch, or drinks after work – it’s also a great week to build relationships through casual social occasions. This is also a great week to make the most of your luck – what does luck look like to you? A winning ticket at the track? Being in a place to overhear something of use to you? Running into someone in the elevator who can advance your career? Be on the lookout for ways to let luck open up unexpected opportunities, because the 3 is a lucky number.

This is not the best week for a serious conversation with your partner in romance. The 3 doesn’t handle plans and long-term commitments well. Better to schedule a rather indulgent night out, and finish with time by the fire and giving each other compliments.

Guard your wallet – the 3 may try to stay upbeat with extravagant purchases.

What are the challenges for the week?

The challenge this week is to bring depth to your interactions, relationships and plans. It is so easy for 3 to charm the situation – you’ll think everything is gracious, smooth, fine. And it’s so much fun to be impulsive – to indulge – to let yourself be charmed by a wolf in designer clothing –

Look past the surface, no matter how pretty the surface is. If you tend to be gullible, watch out for anyone who seems too good to be true. Guard what you say when you are with others, especially if someone tries to draw you out on confidential subjects. Let the dynamic of “pretty on the surface / dangerous below” be your guide – be fun-loving, social, confident on the surface. While you keep your less impulsive self, and your intuition, at the ready, just in case.

What are some helpful affirmations for the week?

- My creativity is blossoming, and I give it free rein.
- I am honest in my dealings with others.
- I build and sustain long-lasting relationships that are of value to me.
- I easily set and maintain boundaries that are in keeping with my values.

What action plan can you follow to make the most of your week?

Set aside time to be social, if you’re so inclined – 3 energy does “social” really well! If you’ve never felt skilled at being a bit manipulative, now would be a good time to try that out (just for fun – not for anything important!). If you are regularly prone to be manipulative, try to hold back this week, as you might feel really tempted to over-manipulate people or situations.

Give your artistic side free rein, and let those creative juices flow, whether that’s around brainstorming a new project, or taking up painting. Resist spending money – 3 energy will convince you that you totally deserve it, and make you believe that new, expensive bauble will make you happy. It won’t …

The lucky day of the week:

Sunday – On the 19th, the day holds the Master Number 22. That number is like the energies of 4, to the nth degree. And you know – 4 and 3 don’t do that well together. But the Master Numbers (11 and 22) are proof that all the numbers have positive energy to bring, once they’ve evolved. The 22 has the focus of the 4, with the grace and gentility of the 2 – the active masculine, combined with the gentle but focused feminine. In any week, a Master Number is likely to be your best day. This week, 22 brings to the week’s energy of 3 the balancing of the numbers that flank 3 – the 2 and 4. The 2 invites the 3 energies to be less self-focused. The 4 brings a focus and structure that 3 lacks, and balances tradition with 3’s love of freedom. As the positive aspects of the numbers that make up a Master Number are what come through, on Sunday, you should see a unique balance of charm and charisma, with thoughtfulness of others, and focused drive for change.
The challenge day of the week:

Thursday – One appearance of the 1 in a year/month/week/day reading is generally enough. So on the 16th, combining the year’s 1 with the day’s 1, and with the 3 month and the 3 week, we have a lot of ego in play. People are likely to take everything in the worst possible way today – and it’s possible, too, that people will mean what they say in the worst possible way. Unless you are ready to compliment and reassure endlessly, best to work alone today, and best to take the evening for yourself. Don’t try to further your personal or professional relationships on Thursday, or it’s likely you’ll be mending that relationship later.
February Week Four

22/02/2017 – 28/02/2017

Numerology Equation

22/02/2017 = 2 + 2 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 16 = (1 + 6) = 7
23/02/2017 = 2 + 3 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 17 = (1 + 7) = 8
24/02/2017 = 2 + 4 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 18 = (1 + 8) = 9
25/02/2017 = 2 + 5 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 19 = (1 + 9) = 10 = (1 + 0) = 1
26/02/2017 = 2 + 6 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 20 = (2 + 0) = 2
27/02/2017 = 2 + 7 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 21 = (2 + 1) = 3
28/02/2017 = 2 + 8 + 2 + 2 + 0 + 1 + 7 = 22 (Master Number)

Days Numerology Total = 7 + 8 + 9 + 1 + 2 + 3 + 22 = 52 = (5 + 2) = 7

This week is all about deeper meaning and spirituality ...

What does 7 mean this week?

The 7 that this week falls under couldn’t be more different than the month’s 3 energy. The good news is: that gives you a wide envelope of prominent energies to choose from. The more challenging aspect: these two do not understand or value each other.
The 7 is a seeker of truth, and it takes issues of morality and justice very seriously. Actually, apart from a dry sense of humor that few may understand, the 7 takes everything pretty seriously. A 7 is an idealist whose heart doesn’t really get involved in the causes 7 champions. The 7 loves intellectual pursuits, analysis and, often, spirituality. They are often true mystics – seeking truth, while secretly hoping truth lies just beyond their relentless search for understanding.

If these energies sound demanding and dry, they can be; they can also really take you to out-of-the-box thinking and solutions. At its best, 7 energies seek justice and knowledge, and if you’re willing to be lectured to, they can give you a very informed and different perspective.

This month’s 3 energy is so very different – 3 is social, 7 is very not social. The 3 energy brings in lighthearted charm, a kind of feeling that it’s pleasant, sometimes, to just skate on the surface – why take everything so seriously? For a 7, if you can’t take something seriously – very seriously – it isn’t worth the time. Each of these numbers can have significant disdain for the other. Which, of course, means: each could learn a lot from the other.

This week will present the challenge of combining these energies well; it isn’t just a matter of surviving a week of conflicting energies. There are actually big gains to be made if you can choose which energy to pull in, at what time. It should be pretty clear when one is called for over the other – for example, do you need to write a mission statement for a non-profit where you volunteer? That’s a strong suit for 7, but bring in a bit of 3 so your mission statement has heart. Need to charm a donor for that same non-profit? That’s 3 energy – but bring in a bit of 7 energy to bring depth and a sense of commitment. See how well those two can work together if you balance them?

If you’re working with people, on teams or just in meetings, you may find you are facilitating between two very different viewpoints. Here’s a suggestion: just be transparent. “I’m hearing some ideas that are leaving out any consideration of how people will feel about this change (that would be 7 energy), and on the other side, some impractical and expensive ideas about how this change can be less unpopular (that would be 3 energy). Can we talk about ways to effectively combine these perspectives?”

For the most part, just make some room to see things differently this week – and perhaps, deal with a little frustration.

You may find yourself in some conversations this week that turn more philosophical than usual. The 7 tends to lecture and pontificate (which 3 energy doesn’t appreciate very much). But if you can accept the conversation will be pretty one-sided, you can learn a lot that’s of value.

What are the challenges for the week?
Probably you’ll feel like you’re in the middle of a tug-of-war between “Oh, lighten up!” from the 3 perspective, and a judgmental “Must you be so materialistic and shallow?” attitude from the 7 perspective. You may very well feel both could improve their approach to the world. These two will only appreciate what the other brings if they are very evolved. Your best bet is probably to keep the energies separate: more 7 energy in your day, more light-hearted 3 energy in your evenings and leisure time. But go ahead and challenge yourself – when either energy seems too prevalent, bring in some balancing of your own. That’s the way to bring out the best in both.

Watch for a tendency to dominate the conversation this week, or a tendency for others to. When you can, bring sincerity and heart to any situation – that’s the element the 3 energies and 7 energies may be lacking. Bringing in vulnerability can also shift things – neither of these energies is willing to be vulnerable, so there’s no true intimacy. You might challenge yourself to be the change agent that brings to this week the elements it’s missing.

What are some helpful affirmations for the week?

- I can be both responsible, and light-hearted.
- I plan and execute very well.
- I make room for unstructured time with others.
- My communication skills include an ability to listen well.

What action plan can you follow to make the most of your week?

How best to use these two very different energies this week? If you are drawn to a new spiritual pursuit, this would be a great week to investigate study programs or communities. That metaphysical book you tried to read but couldn’t get past page 10? Give it another try this week – you may find it captures your interest after all.

If you are challenged when asked to speak in front of others, this week might give you the added support you need. Be prepared to facilitate some difficult conversations this week. You can do that by bringing in heart-felt interest and a willingness to be vulnerable (just a bit), and transparent.

Stay grounded. Both the 3 energies and the 7 can get carried away, 3 with possibilities, 7 with impractical ideas. If you enjoy social situations, use them this week to get a different perspective. If you’re more introverted, let yourself be 7-ish, and arrange to work on your own this week.

The lucky day of the week:

Tuesday – The last day of the month is overseen by the Master Number 22 (that’s twice in one month!). All the numbers function well if they are at their best; the Master Numbers generally bring the best of their base number, in this case 4. Now, 4 energy at its most intractable would not make for a good day, interacting with the month’s 3 and the week’s 7. However, a Master Number overcomes all challenges. The 22 will bring the 2’s graceful smoothing of ruffled feathers into the mix, and you’ll find that very welcome. This would be the best day of the week to put groups of people together, or to work in partnership with someone else. It’s also the best day for your personal relationships – more balanced and heart-felt than the rest of the week.

The challenge day of the week:

Saturday – On the 25th, the day falls under the 1 – now you have the three most self-focused, intractable numbers (the month’s 3, the week’s 7 and the day’s 1) in play. Mix in the added energy of a 1 year, and it isn’t likely you will get anyone’s attention, or sway anyone from their opinions today. This would be a good day to make a plan and brainstorm, on your own; let the 1 and 7 both help you see things from different, but effective, perspectives. However, in planning, be prepared for the 1 energies to have a narrow focus, and the 7 energies to push for moral, but possibly impractical, solutions. It isn’t such a good day to interact with others – truly, your dog might be your best companion today. Make it a point to schedule time to turn your brain off. Time exercising or just retreating with a good book will give you a needed break, and some balance.
Dear Beautiful One,

Now that I have delivered This Month’s Numerology Report to you I encourage you to print it out and read through it daily so you can make sure you are prepared for February 2017 and all of the marvelous energy it offers you.

It’s also important to know what to be alerted to, especially any possible challenges and obstacles as you will be able to react to them more calmly. By thoroughly reading through your report often, you will be assured that you will be conscious of what’s happening with the cosmic energies throughout the month, every month.

Remember that my monthly numerology report is the ultimate guide to experiencing a fulfilling and happy life!

By committing to this secret report each and every month,

You will always be one step ahead of the game!

You will undoubtedly understand your life so much more than those who do not have access to this report, and, as always, I am happy assist you in your quest to enhance your life’s experiences this year and beyond!

Much Love & Blessings

Your Private Online Mystic